It is stated here on good authority that the Raisigh shops of the Baaboard Air Line are soon to be re-equipped and considerably enlarged, their capacity, in fact, probably more than doubled. The special reason given for this is that the Portsmouth shops, are now taxed far boyond their capacity, to keep the repair work anything like up. The news is most gratifying to the base of the shop-work here, which has divided steadly since the old Raisin's will cause on the old Raisin's will causton shops were burned here a nimber of years ago.

"The lostslation authorizing the compilation of the rosign, is constructed by the department to restrict it, in making the compilation to the use of original records made during the war period, and to preclude the use of the printed or manuscript copies, or compilations made subsequently. For this reason, and in order that there shall be no ground for doubt as to the accuracy of the proposed roster, the department will be unable to use in the compilation any of the rosters that have heretofore been published, but must in all cases seek the original records, upon, which these rosters were based.

GREENSBORO, N. The present Board of Aldermen, instead of accepting the offer, has remitted it to a vote, to be taken at the time of the regular municipal election in May. The fate of the building is thus thrust into politics, A committee was appointed last night to take charge of the matter, and if the order to submit it to the voters is not rescinded, to conduct the campaign in behalf of acceptance.

CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD

Charge Against Butchers Will Be Fought in District Court.

A PLACE FOR PRITCHARD

With Judgeship-Judge Campbell in Washington-Constitutions and Prohibition Movement

Washington, D. C., March 27.

The long talked of "place" ex-Senator Jeter C. Pritchard, of North Carolina, was to receive at the hands of the adminis materialized to-day, when the President appointed him an associated justice of the Supreme Court of the Dis

Chief Justice Bingham sent in his re signation to-day, to take effect April 80, The President appointed Associate Justice H. M. Clabaugh to succeed Chief Justice Bingham, and Mr. Pritchard to succeed Mr. Clabaugh. Soliditor-General Hoyt, of the Depart-

Solicitor-General Hoyt, of the Department of Justice, stated this afternoon that he would soon bring action in the District of Columbia, charging four Norfolk butchers with conspiring to defraud the government in the matter of a contract for supplying meats and vegetables to the Norfolk navy-yard and all government vessels that call there.

It is alleged by the government that the act of the butchers in "getting together" before submitting bids was a conspiracy to charge a fancy price for the produce sold to the government, and, further, that the four outchers entering into the arrangement shared in the profits.

MAY REVOKE CONTRACT.

The contracts were opened and awarded at the Washington navy-yard, and on that account, as stated in to-day's Times-Dispatch, United States Judge Waddill, of the Eastern District of Virginia, handed down an opinion yesterday sustaining a demurrer entered by the defondants, holding that the Virginia courts had no jurisdiction in the matter.

The Department of Justice has no recourse from the decision of a Federal Court of a State district denying jurisdictions brought by the government. The Court of a State district cenying jurisjurishing the provided in the property of the government. The result is that the Department of Juritice must begin the action anew. Solicitor-General Hoyt determined to-day to commence proceeding in the District of Columbia. The statement was made that conspiracy would be proved against the hutchers.

The contract for food supplies was awarded by the Washington navy-yard to A. Marx, and the government is now A. Marx, and the government is now making purchases according to its provisions. The acting secretary of the navy has the matter under advisement, and it is expected he will revoke the contract or declare it inoperative until the United States courts pass upon the government's contention.

MANN BILL DISCUSSED.

The Mann liquor bill, which is expected to greatly contain the sale of intoxicants in the country districts of Virginia, is being much discussed by Virginia visitors to Washington. It must be confessed that the majority of those with whom I have talked on the subject have expressed opposition to the bill. But then none of them have ever been regarded as specially vigorous advocates of temperance. A gentleman from North Carolina, in discussing the Watts liquor bill, passed by the Legislature of his State at the session just closed, and the Mann bill, about to become a law in Virginia, called attention to-day to the remarkable growth of the prohibition or local option idea in the South in the past few years. It is stated that whiskey is sold in only about haif the counties of Alabama. The gentleman referred to, discussing the dispensary laws of South Carolina, said it had very greatly decreased the sale dispensary laws of South Carolina, said it had very greatly decreased the sale of ardent spirits in that State. Many of the counties of Alabama and Missispip are without a bar-room. More than half the counties of Virginia, it is asserted, refuse to license the sale of whiskey.

serted, refuse to license the sale of whiskey.

"I attribute all this to the new Constitutions adopted by Southern States," he said. "There has been little development of local option sentiment in recent years in States in which there is a great negro population, unless a new Constitution has eliminated the negro as a factor at the polls. I believe your Mann bill in Virginia is the result of the new Constitution, and I believe the Watts bill in North Carolina is the direct result of the constitutional amendment which put the negro out of politics. The opponents of local option could count upon the negroes voting with them every time."

CAMPBELL IN WASHINGTON.

Judge Ciarence J. Campbell, of the County Court of Amherst county, is at the Metropolitan Hotol. He arrived last night. Judge Campbell discussed very freely the charges brought against him by the Judiciary Committee and his trial by the Benate, beginning April 8th, but he declined to make any statement for publication. Nor would he allow me to say whether he would be a candidate for the House of Delegates in case he was removed by the Legislature, Judge Campbell appeared in the best of health and spirits, and is rather fieshier than when I saw him last, six months ago.
